

APPLICATION PROGRAMMING INTERFACE (API) Guide

Spring 2012

APPLICATION PROGRAMMING INTERFACE (API)

The Application Programming Interface (API) is a web service for accessing data from Regulations.gov. By adding parameters to the base API URL (http://regulations.gov/api/), users can request Document Search results or metadata for a specific Docket or Document. The data is output in XML and JSON formats, which can be used for data analyses, building custom reports, integrations, and other programmatic access to Regulations.gov data.

Available APIs

71741141515 711 15
API	Base URL
Document Search	http://regulations.gov/api/documentsearch/v1.xml
Get Docket Information	http://regulations.gov/api/getdocket/v1.xml
Get Document Information	http://regulations.gov/api/getdocument/v1.xml

Note: In order to use the API URLs, an API Key is required. See the first section of this document for how to obtain an API Key.

Any of the above APIs can be used with JSON output by replacing ".xml' at the end with ".json", http://regulations.gov/api/documentsearch/v1.json will produce JSON output for search.

How do I become authorized to access the API?

In order to use the API, an API Key is needed, which is provided upon request. You can request an API key through the Regulations.gov Contact Us form. In the Subject field, please enter "API Key Request" and be sure to include your First and Last name, your Email address, and note your Organization in the body of the comment form.

Please Note: Your key will be associated with this email address, please use one for organization wide access.

What should I know about Regulations.gov data before I get started?

Regulations.gov contains data and documents from over 300 Federal agencies; because of differences in agency policy and practice, not all agencies use Regulations.gov in the same way. For example, all Rules and Proposed Rules from agencies should appear on Regulations.gov, however some agencies choose not to post their notices on Regulations.gov. Many agencies receive comments through Regulations.gov, but individual agencies choose whether to post all, some, or none of the comments received back out on Regulations.gov. If an agency received several thousand form letter comments that were identical, they may post them back out individually, or just post one noting that it's representative of all the others.

You may find that data quantity and quality varies as the data extends back in time. Agencies joined the program at different times beginning in 2003, and agencies have been created, disbanded, or merged during that time period. Some agencies have brought pre-2003 data into Regulations.gov. Note specifically that common identifiers as Regulatory Identification

Number (RIN) is not present on all rulemaking documents, and that the Federal Register ID is padded with preceding zeros to ensure a consistent five character field.

Data will change over the course of the day. The latest issue of the Federal Register is generally posted by 9:30am, and the date dimensions (e.g., posted today, closing today, etc.,) are generally updated at this time as well. Agencies post public submissions and other documents throughout the day. For this reason counts may vary and may age quickly, depending on site activity and time.

The Federal Regulatory community is working together to encourage consistent practices and improve the utility and quality of data provided by Regulations.gov.

Formatting your URL

All requests start with the base URL (see details below for each API option) and are followed by query parameters, which take the form argument=value, where the arguments and values are URL encoded according to RFC3986.

Example

To request data for a specified Document Type and Federal Agency, use the parameters "dct" and "a" with the values listed in the table below. To select more than one option, use the "+" sign.

Search API (Document Search)

This API allows users to build a query based on any of the parameters below.

Base Request URL

http://regulations.gov/api/documentsearch/v1.xml (for XML output) http://regulations.gov/api/documentsearch/v1.json (for JSON output)

Note: In order to use the API URLs, an API Key is required. See the first section of this document for how to obtain an API Key.

Sample Requests

- 1. All EPA documents containing the search term 'tires':

 http://www.regulations.gov/api/documentsearch/v1.xml?a=EPA&rpp=10&po=0&s=tires&api_key=abcd&encoded=1&countsOnly=0
- 2. All FR documents posted today:

For example, below is the Regulations.gov URL for searching all open FR documents: http://www.regulations.gov/#!searchResults;dct=N%252BPR%252BFR%252BFR%252BO;cp=O;rpp=10;po=0 In order to use this with the API, user will need to specify 'encoded=1' in the URL along with providing one or more encoded parameters. http://www.regulations.gov/api/documentsearch/v1.xml?encoded=1&dct=N%252BPR%252BFR%252BPR%

Linking to Regulations.gov

How can I provide a link from my website to a specific document on Regulations.gov?

Regulations.gov supports linking to the document details screen by using the Document ID, which is available from the API as the <documentId> element.

<documentId>FDIC-2012-0013-0001</documentId>

Using the Document ID the URL to Regulations.gov is http://www.regulations.gov/#!documentDetail;D=FDIC-2012-0013-0001 Where D= the <documentId>.

You can also use the Document ID to directly link to the Submit a Comment page, for example: http://www.regulations.gov/#!submitComment;D=FDIC-2012-0013-0001

How can I link to Regulations.gov using the FR Numbers published by the Federal Register?

The Document Detail screen supports an alternative FR URL parameter where FR = FR number. For Example: http://www.regulations.gov/#!documentDetail;FR=2012-02630

Note that linking by FR number is only supported on the Document Details screen. The Submit a Comment screen will not accept the FR URL parameter.

If you require assistance while using the API, please contact the Regulations.gov Help Desk at 1-877-378-5457 (toll free) or 703-412-3083. The Help Desk is available Monday through Friday, from 9:00 AM until 5:00 PM, ET for assistance.
